DEVOTION TO CHASKA.

The Wedding Will Take Place Today unless a Big Brother's Revolver Interferes
Be the Latest in the Hottest Time the Sioux Have Had Since the March 25.

PIERRE, Dakota, March 25.—To-morrow Miss Cora Fellows, a former society belle of Washington, D. C., and at present an Indian school teacher, will become Mrs. Chaeka, wife of a Sioux Indian, unless her big brother, who is here with a six-shooter, brings the ceremony off. The wedding, by sending Chaeka to the happy hunting grounds, would be the most beautiful and obstinate as ever, and Chaeka as indolent, forbidding, and ill seeming as of yore. Despite the protestations of her friends and the tears of her relative, Miss Fellows is determined that the wedding shall take place.

Chaeka, who was summoned from Washington, has arrived here.

able to break the match. Chaska contents himself with keeping a pretty close guard over his white sweetheart, as though he feared her relatives would spirit her away. Miss Feltow's strange infatuation only seems to be intensified by family opposition, and she looks forward to to-morrow's wedding as joyfully as any bride.

The Indian was first postponed to March 24 to give Mr. and Mrs. Feltow time.

The Indian camp is some distance from Fort and as the river cannot be crossed without great expense, the wedding ceremony will probably be delayed. Several of the Indians and Sioux will witness the ceremony, which will be a grand affair.

the tribe since the master musician. The agent has been supplied for a great feast, and after the wedding is over, the agent will take the Swift Bear's camp, for which Miss Fellows has been waiting. The agent will then take the ranchmen and cowboys for hundreds of miles will be performed by the musician named Randolph.

A message from Fort Bennett to-night says that Cora's other brother arrived from Chicago last night, and that his pantsjacks pocket was as big as a rolling-pin. The agent says that they will shoot Chuska on sight. The bridegroom is expected to be killed, and the only attempt is made to stop the wedding march. The agent says that the bridegroom is dead, and that there will be serious trouble over the affair.

A MAD TIGER CAT IN A CAFE.

It Frightens Several Ladies in the Central Park Hotel, and Bites the Proprietor.

Ladies seated in the café of the Central Park Hotel at Fifth Avenue last night were frightened by a large mad tiger cat. The animal rushed about the café frothing at the mouth, sprang upon the tables and swept the dishes off.

chased the mad cat about the place to drive it out. The animal with a bound sprang at Mr. Craig, and with its claws in the chin and elbow it was pounded off. The cat then fastened another spring at Mr. Craig, and fastened its teeth in the man's hand.

In the street the cat again sprang at Mr. Craig, and caught his wrist and bit through two of the fingers. The cat then fastened another wound.

The man bounded away and escaped. Mr. Craig was removed to his room in the hotel, and is under the care of Dr. Woodson. His injuries are considered severe.

Labour Convention in Alabama.
MONTGOMERY, March 28.—At the State Convention of Organized Labor to-day, an Executive Committee, consisting of two members from each of the various unions, was authorized to call a convention, if it should become advisable, to nominate a State ticket, not later than June 1. A platform was adopted, which calls on all who seek the emancipation of labor under the banner of the American flag, to support a platform of natural and equal justice. It aims to secure the right of citizenship to all, and to pay their fellow men for the use of God's free gifts; demands such legislation as will secure the right of free trade; the prohibition of free and compulsory labor; secure sanitary working conditions, factories, and mines; and that the day laborer be paid his money at intervals of not longer than two weeks.

Resolutions were adopted favoring national aid to common schools, and demanding the recognition of the right of the people to a resolution in favor of prohibition was defeated.

Frank Seated, and Bites the Proprietor.

Ladies seated in the café of the Central hotel at Fifty-ninth street and Seventh avenue last night were startled by a loud roar and a tiger cat. The animal rushed about the café frothing at the mouth, sprang upon the tables and swept the dishes off.

Charles Craig, the proprietor of the hotel, chased the mad cat about the place to drive it out. He was followed by a loud sprang at Mr. Craig, bit him in the thigh and then sprang as if wounded. The cat made another sprang at the proprietor and fastened its teeth in the neck of his coat.

In the street the cat again sprang at Mr. Craig, and he was again bit through the neck chords of the arm. Blood spurted from the wound.

Mr. Craig was wounded away and escaped. Mr. Craig was removed to his room in the hotel, and is under the care of Dr. Woodson. His injuries are considered severe.

United German Democrats.

The United German Democracy, which as established since the close of the last campaign, having for its objective point the consolidation of the German-American Alliance with the Democratic Party, has today elected its members to the various delegations in all of the Assembly districts. The new organization has for its President Mr. William Steiway, the new National Committeeman from this State. In the Seventh, Ninth, and Twelfth Assembly districts there were no opposition tickets.

Among the delegates elected were William Steiway, George F. Hirsch, Philip H. Hirsch, George F. Roesch, Joseph Reppert, Senator George F. Langbein, Dr. Edmund J. Wendt, and Dr. J. H. Schaefer. The Twelfth district was very interesting. The ticket headed by ex-Assistant Attorney General George H. Davis was probably elected.

Labor Convention in Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, March 23.—At the State Convention of Organized Labor-day, an Ex-

utive Committees, consisting of two members from each Congress District, was appointed and authorized to call a convention, if it should become advisable to do so at a date not later than June 1. A platform was adopted which calls on all who seek the emancipation of their race to join in organizing a party on the broad basis of the principles of justice, liberty and equality, and the abolition of the system of compulsory labor. It calls on their fellow men for the use of their own strength to secure the abolition of the system which will reduce hours of labor; prohibit competition on free with convict labor; secure sanitary conditions for the laboring man; and compel the payment of all employees in money at intervals of not longer than two weeks.

Resolutions were adopted favoring national education for all children, and the right of all to common schools, and demanding the removal of all race restrictions from the constitution. A favor of prohibition was defeated.
